

I'm translating English to [French]

(please write which language you're translating!!)

Few words from Anne:

Thank you sooooo much for saying yes for the help!!!! I REALLY appreciate it!

The translations don't need to be super strict and accurate, (well if you can it def works better but don't be stressed about it) all good as long as that makes sense to native speakers

AND if you don't have the exact word or sentence/or hard to translate into one word/sentence, just leave it [blank]

Thanksss and ask me any questions if u guys havee!!

Let's get this doneee >>>>>>

NO NEED to be translated. Just for reference/context
Need to be translated! Actual sentences that being translate

Screen #1 Language selection

Screen #4 Sentence game

Tone: dictionary form

Instruction:

So what I'm gonna do here is making a sentence game with each different language for each component.

For instance:

I / 사과 /好きです
apple(in KR) like(in JP)

= I like apple.

So please write it into two forms if it's possible:

Top one: as a sentence

Bottom one: dictionary form for each components

If your language has a different grammar, you don't need to follow the separation and the order I gave, just classify them as they are :)

Also, those sentences contain some humors lol

I love to procrastinate.
I / love / to / procrastinate

☺ Your translation here(AS A SENTENCE): J'aime procrastiner.

☺ Your translation here(SEPARATED COMPONENTS): J'aime / procrastiner

THATS ALL FOR TRANSLATION!! YEY

And JUST FOR FUN, if you'd like to share:

Words/expressions/sentences that doesn't exist in English?:

Flemme = lazy —> J'ai trop la flemme = I'm too lazy

(For instance, '귀찮아(gwichana)' in Korean means 'that's too much work so I would rather not do it' but the dictionary says 'its annoying,' which is not a good reflection 😂)
